It usually does not appear there on the Assess Topic screen it is an additional line item per student. That is another issue, that is the rubric as scored in the Discussions are does not reflect in the rubric associated with the grade item for the same discussion.

Discussions cont'd		Coming Soon: Ability to Score a rubric while assessing student posts in Discussions
		In Discussions, if I start a new thread, can I manage the date for that later? So, if I myself start a new thread under a topic, I can change the date for that thread. Sort of- it is more about being able to edit the discussion they already submitted. Some will make a post and then go edit it to get around the must post first rule. But some faculty do want students to be able to edit the discussion if they made a typo. I can turn it off on the org level as an admin but it is either on or off- for all students-the instructor doesn't have the option of choosing to let students edit.
		"Edit Own Post" is a permission that is set at the Org Level. Instructors can only apply the option for "Users must start a thread before they can read and reply to other threads".

No. Only one set of course files is copied to Manage Files via Copy Course Components.  Open Dyslexic Font: Can students change their font to the open dyslexic font? Yes, students can make changes under Account Settings.  Awards: Can we change the images for these awards? Are the icons customizable? Can an instructor import their own? Yes. Click Edit Badge option inside a current badge. Are the images resizable? Must resize before uploading new image.  So this would mean you could set it so "you do this, you automatically get this badge"? Release conditions can be applied to Awards.  A badge is specific to a course unless the person shares it? Correct. Badges can be created at the Org Level and shared down. Depending on how courses are structured within your environment, restricting the use of this award to the current org unit and its child org units will allow it to be added only to this course offering and its children. Allowing others to use this award will allow others to utilize your award in their course offerings.  Students can only see it in their "My Awards" but they (the student) can share it to their profile (teacher can't share to students' profile)? Correct. Teacher can apply an award. The student can see it and share it with others in their profile. If enabled by administrators, learners can now send awards to their D2L ePortfolio.  Visual Course List: Is there a size limit to the custom image for a course in the widget in pixels or inches? Widget will resize image upon upload. Keep in mind using very wide or tall images may appear distorted after they are uploaded.
